Beginning with this issue, we are adopting a new format for this means of communication with our constituents and alumni. Combining PULSE and LIFELINES in this manner will effect significant reductions in printing and mailing costs. In addition, it will allow us to channel our full energies into the production of the most professional publication possible. We would be interested in your comments on this new format.

Scenes of college — new student and parent reception — that "lived in" look in a dorm room — and registration for the coming school year.

The Qualifying Factor

"Whom God calls, He qualifies; and when He qualifies, He sends." For 75 years God has enabled Fort Wayne Bible College to serve as a qualifying factor in the preparation of men and women for Christian ministries.

In 1904 Fort Wayne Bible Training School first opened its doors. Its purpose was to provide sound biblical training and the basic skills necessary for Christian service. Times have changed since those early training school days. Kerosene lanterns, cinder trails, on-campus chicken coops, and streetcar stops are no longer a part of campus life. But Fort Wayne Bible College's primary goals are still the same. The purpose behind the modern facilities, enlarged campus, and extensive curriculum is still the training of men and women for Christian service.

Yes, times have changed and so has Fort Wayne Bible College. But God's call to service is still heard. Today He calls not only pastors, evangelists, and teachers. He calls computer programmers who can assist in translation work on the mission field . . . announcers and engineers who can broadcast the gospel to thousands of otherwise unreached homes . . . accountants who can keep Christian organizations operating in the black. Over the years countless new opportunities for service have opened up all around the world. Overseas outreach has expanded . . . churches have grown and taken on new responsibilities in the community . . . Christian businesses are flourishing . . .

To meet the ever-growing needs of the church, community, and world mission field, FWBC faculty and administration committees keep their eyes and ears open, continually review the college curriculum and consistently meet with the Lord in prayer for guidance and wisdom. When it comes to a Christian college education, "we've always done it this way," just won't do the job. We must stay on the growing edge if we are to meet the needs of today's gospel-hungry world.

This fall the college is offering two new majors: Christian social work and business administration. A new program of minors also developed includes: broadcasting, business administration, Christian drama, Christian counseling, camping, anthropology, missions, pastoral ministries, social work, secretarial science, and youth ministries.

We believe this is an exciting move forward. Today's Christian young people face a competitive career world on both the secular and Christian levels. High caliber education coupled with a solid Bible background can provide the FWBC grad with that qualifying factor needed to reach his full potential in the Lord's service — whatever his calling.

Consider the opportunities for ministry in the business world. FWBC students can answer God's call to a secular or Christian business position with the confidence of a strong business education background within a Christian framework.

Think of the career possibilities for the FWBC graduate with a major in social work . . . and think of the thousands of lives that could be touched. The nightly news is permeated with stories of poverty, broken homes, minorities, the handicapped, delinquents, the aged, unwed mothers, neglected children . . . all in need of qualified help and all in need of the gospel.

The new major-minor program also offers an entire new array of Christian service opportunities. A pastoral studies major can minor in business administration — which means he'll be able to organize a board of trustees as well as a sermon. A missions major can minor in broadcasting — Far Eastern Broadcasting Company is reaching areas of mainland China where missionaries could never set foot, and then there's ELWA Radio, HCJB, Trans-World Radio . . .

75 years have passed since Fort Wayne Bible College began helping concerned Christians qualify for Christian service careers. It's exciting to look back and reflect on how the Lord has worked through us. But it's even more exciting to look forward, and ever upward.

King's Brass

The King's Brass, a brass quintet, will be in concert at Fort Wayne Bible College in Founders Auditorium, on Monday, October 20, at 8 p.m. The brass quintet brings a thrilling sound to sacred songs in both the traditional and contemporary moods. All members of the sacred concert group have mastered their instruments and have had orchestra experience.

Varsity Sports Schedules

It has been said that "all work and no play makes Johnny a dull boy." Varsity sports at Fort Wayne Bible College offer the student a chance to put aside studies for a short time and share in the fun and excitement of athletics. The 1980-81 sports year at FWBC is guaranteed to be both exciting and well worth your support! The following are the varsity team schedules.

Dr. Lon Randall Featured Alumnus

Educator, administrator, traveler and public speaker are all titles that can be appropriately given Dr. Lon Randall, president of Malone College, our featured alumnus for this issue of PULSE/LIFELINES. A 1955 graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College, Dr. Randall is highly respected for his outstanding ability in administration and contribution to higher education.

Our featured alumnus was born in Flint, Michigan but lived around the Sturgis, Michigan area most of his childhood. A pastor's son, his Christian commitment was made at an early age under his father's ministry in the Missionary Church in Sturgis.

After graduating in 1951 from Sturgis High School, Dr. Randall came to Fort Wayne Bible College. His primary reasons for choosing the Bible College as the first step in advanced education, were because of parental influence and his association with the Missionary Church. He and his wife, Jo-Ann (Benham), came to FWBC together.

While attending FWBC, one could find Dr. Randall playing on the basketball team or singing with the College Quartet or Sunrise Chapel singing groups. He was also the Mission Band songleader and in his sophomore year was elected vice president of his class.

When asked what FWBC means to him, Dr. Randall replied, "The special meaning that Fort Wayne Bible College has for me centers around the fellowship, friendships, and spiritual knowledge which remains as a current influence in my life today."

After graduating in 1955, Dr. Randall went from FWBC to Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. At I.U. he earned his M.S. in Guidance and Counseling and the Ed.D. in Guidance with a special emphasis in student personnel administration.

To find an adequate word to describe Dr. Randall's experiences is a difficult task. The word "vast" only seems to tell half the story. Occupational experiences include Dean of Students at Indiana Institute of Technology in Fort Wayne, Vice President for Spring Arbor College, Spring Arbor, Michigan, and Executive Vice President of Seattle Pacific in Seattle, Washington. He has been President of Malone College in Canton, Ohio since 1972.

Other professional activities include consultant work in higher education and fund raising. He has also done extensive public speaking for religious, civic, and professional groups.

Dr. Randall's work experience has taken him throughout the United States. He has also had opportunity for extensive world-wide travel. He has made seven trips to Asia and has visited the countries of Japan, Hong Kong, Sweden, France and Bermuda, to name only a few. Through his travels, he has taken part in the ministries of numerous mission works.

During his life, Dr. Randall has been dedicated to the fulfillment of the will of God in his spiritual life, his roles of husband and father of two children, and in his work. He states, "My life decisions have been directed by God's will and the leadership of the Holy Spirit. My personal philosophy of life is to be open to God's leading to the 'area of greatest service.' If there is a place, other than where I am now, where I can be of greater service to the Kingdom, that is where I will not hesitate to go."

Fort Wayne Bible College praises God for the testimony and service of this alumnus. The Bible College takes honor in having a part in Dr. Randall's training and prays God will continue to use him in His service.

Parent's Day

October 25th is the date set for FWBC's 1980 Parent's Day. Parent's Day is a time for parents to visit and become better acquainted with the setting and atmosphere of the Bible College. This special day also gives the student a chance to introduce parents to new friendships that have been made. Some students use this opportunity to show parents they really did find room for all their life possessions and still managed to construct a path to the door!

An agenda of singspirations, a tasty lunch, tours, games and several other activities promises not a dull moment. The day will draw to a close with a Chorale Concert at 7:30 p.m. So, no matter what one's purpose is in participating in Parent's Day, the day guarantees to be enjoyable, informative and maybe even a little surprising!

Kevin Hagelin Joins FWBC Staff

FWBC welcomes Kevin Hagelin, the newest member of the Bible College's faculty. During the Fall semester he will be teaching Western Civilization, Introduction to Philosophy and Church History.

Kevin, a native of Annapolis, Maryland, earned his B.A. in History from East Carolina University in Greenville, North Carolina. He taught European History at East Carolina University while attending the University's Master of Arts program. He is in the process of writing his thesis for completion of the M.A. in History.

Kevin has also spent three months in Switzerland studying at L'Abri (founded by Francis Schaeffer). His study concentration was in History and Philosophy.

Students Conduct Worship Services

"Being Sure in an Unsure World" was the theme adopted for a series of tent meetings held August 18-23, on the Bible College campus. The worship services were conducted by Fort Wayne Bible College's summer work and maintenance crew. Students had complete charge of the services with a different student preaching each evening.

The purpose of the meetings was to minister to the neighborhood surrounding the Bible College campus. The students' goal was to reach non-Christians for Christ and get them into a local church. Contributions from area businesses helped to defray publicity costs and provide the necessary equipment and facilities.

News In The Brief

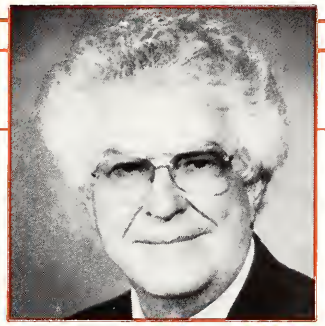
Forty-eight study carrels were given to the Fort Wayne Bible College library as a gift from Indiana-Purdue University of Fort Wayne. The University has built new library facilities and gave the FWBC library the study carrels that were used in the University's original library. Twenty-four of the study carrels will be located in the main library, while the remaining ones will be put to use in the listening and reading labs.

Donna Lutton, Director of Correspondence Studies, has returned from her trip to the Holy Land. The experience included a communion service at the Garden Tomb, a baptismal service at the River Jordan, temperatures of 110 and 115 degrees, and a bomb threat on a plane from Tel Aviv to Rome. Donna relates, "It was worth it all, one can never be the same after having walked where Jesus walked!"

Marlene Everson has accepted a full-time position, starting this fall, with the FWBC Music Department. She will be teaching Voice, Introduction to Music, Practicum Middle/High School Music and Seminar in Curriculum Development. Marlene states, "I'm excited about the opportunity of teaching. The Lord has given this to me, and it will be a challenge." Marlene previously taught applied music lessons at FWBC on a part-time basis.

Jeff Carlson, WBCL announcer, and his wife Cheri have returned from their visit to Israel. For three months they, and three other individuals, lived among the Jewish people in the city of Tiberias. They shared the word of God and witnessed of the Savior to those people who had willing hearts. A feature article on Jeff's trip will appear in the next publication of PULSE/LIFELINES.

Harvey Bostrom



The character of this school is clearly seen in its graduates. Catalogs express "statements of mission," "objectives" if you will. But the actual lives of those who have studied at the school speak much more eloquently than can printed pages.

Inasmuch as I am new on the scene, I am especially aware of the impact that Fort Wayne Bible College has had on people and the impact that they, in turn, have had on the communities in which they live. The data is impressive. A school really can't be much stronger than its alumni. And herein I see a sizeable asset for your school and now mine.

All of us want to thank you for your ministry and your interest in and support of the educational process here. You are an integral part of the larger operation. Your suggestions, your gifts and your prayers are a significant part of the reason for the current strength of Fort Wayne Bible College.

At this writing we are looking forward to a good Faculty Retreat followed closely by the opening of the new academic year. The enrollment will be good. We finished last year in the black (with reference to the budget) and we are doing some solid long range planning for the future. I begin this year with a clear sense of God's blessing and a good feeling about the many strengths of this institution. Thank you for the part you have played and for all you will be doing with and for us in the year ahead.

When you are in the vicinity, please stop by and let's get acquainted.

Summer Recruitment On The Road

As a rule at Fort Wayne Bible College, summer break brings a time for catching-up and reorganizing. The Admissions Department is the exception to the rule. To Admissions, summer means a three month opportunity for recruitment of new students for the new school year.

This year a summer team ministered in word and music in Missionary churches, camps, and youth conferences in Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Florida and Canada. The team consisted of Jeff Ling, Director of Admissions, Ron Mann, Admissions Representative, and Debra Lehman, an FWBC music major graduate.

It has been reported as of August 12, full-time applications are up 1.5% and enrollments are up 21.7% from last year at this time. These statistics may vary since FWBC accepts applications up to the day of registration.

The Admissions Department expresses that it has been both a successful and profitable summer. Jeff Ling, Director, comments, "We have seen scores of young people this summer who are interested in full-time Christian service vocations. A highlight for the summer team was to see so many alumni at the various places they visited."

FWBC Correspondence School: A Ministry & A Service

What has increased over ten times in size since its beginning and promises to continue to multiply in the future? No, the rate of inflation does not quite fit the description, but the Department of Correspondence Studies at Fort Wayne Bible College does!

Since its beginning in 1945, the Correspondence Department's enrollment has climbed from just a handful to over 2,000 students at present. The Correspondence School is the second largest of its kind in the country. Moody Correspondence School of Chicago ranks first.

Until 1970 the Correspondence School was a service only a few FWBC people took advantage of. In 1970, under the direction of Cyril Eicher, Fort Wayne Bible College bought out the Correspondence Department at Judson College in Elgin, Illinois for $10,000. After only one year of expansion, the school paid the $10,000 debt and still made a profit. The Department has continued to grow ever since. Last year the FWBC Correspondence Dept. made an $80,000 profit. All profit is filtered back into the Bible College and put to use where needed.

The Correspondence courses are designed for students who have class conflicts or have temporarily dropped out of college, for ministers wanting refresher courses, for teachers and for anyone wanting advanced education. Students range from prisoners to housewives! The first person to complete the 32 hour Christian Worker Certificate was a prisoner from Canada. Students are located in 49 states, 10 Canadian provinces and 18 foreign countries. The department is working on recruiting one more state to make it an even 50.

The Correspondence Dept. deals with thirteen fields of study: Bible, biblical languages, theology, Christian education, communications, history, missions, music, natural science, pastoral training, philosophy, psychology and social science. The cost is less than half of regular college tuition per hour.

Altogether there are 79 courses offered. The most popular among students are John, Old and New Testament Survey, Romans and Introduction to Philosophy. Students have one year to complete a course and all credits are transferable.

This expanding program is under the direction of Donna Lutton. Donna has been with the Bible College for 23 years and has been in the Correspondence Dept. since 1970.

As director, Donna sees the prison ministry and a greater percentage of courses completed as highlights. "Our goal is to expand and to develop even a greater outreach ministry than we presently have," comments Donna.

Besides Donna and four other workers, there are 14 graders who grade assignments and return them to the students as quickly as possible. The majority of the graders are professors at the Bible College.

Donna feels the efficiency of the Dept. is a key factor to its success. Course material and books are sent out to students the same day an application is received. Letters of motivation are frequently sent out to students to encourage them to keep plugging away to complete their course.

While letters are going out to students, letters are also coming in from students. One writes:

> "I truly appreciate how Fort Wayne Bible College helped me to finish my college degree."

Another student states:

> "I really cannot believe my correspondence course is finished. I just want to thank you for your patience and encouraging notes. The notes really helped me and meant a lot."

Letters of information about the Correspondence School are sent to colleges, churches and the armed services, but the word-of-mouth from students is the most successful recruitor of enrollments.

The Department of Correspondence Studies at Fort Wayne Bible College puts in a fine effort to serve those who for various reasons cannot attend college. It is appropriate to say, that going to college by mail at FWBC, "is the next best thing to being there!"

Those wanting more information may contact Donna Lutton at Fort Wayne Bible College, 1025 W. Rudisill Blvd., Fort Wayne, IN 46807.

Alumni To Take On Varsity In Special Game In November

FWBC alumni who have played on any of the Falcon's national tournament basketball teams are invited to return to campus for a "fun" game with current varsity members on Saturday, November 1. Falcon basketball coach, Steve Morley, said alumns who played on teams in 1970-71, 1975-76, 1976-77, and 1978-79 are invited to participate. Ken Conrad will coach the alumni with the game scheduled for 3:00 p.m. in the Fort Wayne Concordia High School gym.

There will also be a preliminary all-alumni game beginning at 1:00 p.m. involving all former basketball team members from 1959-80 who did not perform on a national tourney team.

Alumni director, Howard Dunlap, said all participants are invited to a special meal following the games in the President's Dining Room in the college cafeteria. The meal will be free to all players, with family members paying the regular meal price.

Bernard Berman, sacred concert violinist, and Lenny Siedel, sacred concert pianist, performed at FWBC, 10 a.m., September 19. The musicians presented their sacred music ministry during college chapel.

FWBC Alum Takes Coaching Post

Ted Tiernon, formerly assistant women's volleyball coach at Fort Wayne Bible College and a student here in 1973-74, has been named head girls' volleyball coach at Fort Wayne's South Side High School.

Tiernon had been serving as assistant volleyball coach at Indiana Institute of Technology, Fort Wayne, during the past year. He is a graduate of Wheaton College where he played on the men's volleyball team for three seasons and was team captain in 1977. He was also a member of the Midwest College all star volleyball team.

During 1979, he toured California as a member of the Athletes in Action volleyball squad.

News From WBCL

Plans continue for a new tower for WBCL. The station is waiting FAA approval. If approval is granted, the tower will be located near the intersection of Butler and Hillegas roads. The tower will mean WBCL's signal will extend another 30 to 40 miles further.

WBCL sponsored their second annual "Kid's Day" on August 15. Children were invited to visit and tour the radio station. Several children had the opportunity to participate on Char Binkley's "Midmorning" program. Cookies and punch made the party complete.

October 4, 1980 is the date set for the seventh semi-annual DAY AWAY. This fall's theme will be "But God." Inspirational music by Nancy Lowry, informal small group interaction, and information workshops will highlight the day. The seminar will be held in Founders Auditorium on the FWBC campus from 9 a.m. till 4:30 p.m. All women are invited to share with hundreds of other women for a refreshing DAY AWAY.

The WBCL 1981 Sharathon will take place January 13, 14, and 15, 1981. The 1981 goal has been set at $175,000.

WBCL's annual Fishing Derby brought out a large crowd during Fort Wayne's Three Rivers Festival. The day gave the kids an opportunity to fish and win prizes, while parents had a chance to enjoy time with their children.

WBCL Radio

WBCL Radio continues as a strong and influential Christian voice for FWBC. Sharathon, the annual fund-raising effort held in January, hit a new high of $168,000 in pledges, and preliminary zoning approval has been received for a new transmitter site that will increase WBCL's coverage by some 40 miles. There were smiles all around when WBCL was rated above several commercial AM and FM stations in an audience survey taken during the fall.

Jim Schweickart, WBCL station manager, gives instructions to Fishing Derby participants.

There are still copies of Dr. Jared Gerig's book "A Vine of God's Own Planting" that may be purchased for $4.95. If you are interested in this book, a history of the Fort Wayne Bible College, contact the Business Office at the Bible College.

From The Director

Howard Dunlap

Greetings from the Director's corner. We are in the midst of planning for the year 1980-81. It promises to be an exciting experience!

We are working with Bob Jones in Public Relations in combining the "Pulse" and "Lifelines" into one publication. I think it will prove to be a big step forward as we improve the quality of one publication. We will keep all the ingredients of "Lifelines" in the expanded vehicle.

The Alumni Advisory Board met on August 5 and set a goal of $176,000 of gift income for this year. We also set in motion the planning for the May 8, 1981 spring banquet. April 6 is the date set for Alumni Chapel and the giving of alumni scholarships. You are encouraged to mark your calendar and attend these events. Be sure to plan for the banquet, May 8.

I would be pleased for any input you have for the alumni program. Write me a line, telephone me, or better still, stop by the office at 304 Witmer Hall and chat awhile. The door is open to you.

You are a great group and I want to be of service to you.

It's Just What I've Been Looking For!

That's what one reader wrote to us about THE DAILY WALK. Since FWBC first offered THE DAILY WALK reading guide in January, over 2450 enthusiastic readers have enrolled. How do we know they're enthusiastic? Here's just a sampling of excerpts from their letters:

"Thanks. I've never been able to make it all the way through the Old Testament before. The comments in the study guide help make even the 'dry sections' relevant."

"Thanks for motivating us to read through the Bible again."

"In all my six years of knowing Jesus, I have never really gotten the chance to read through the Bible entirely . . . the Word is now so meaningful and alive. I really can't explain it! But praise the Lord!"

"I'm anxious to start next month's reading!"

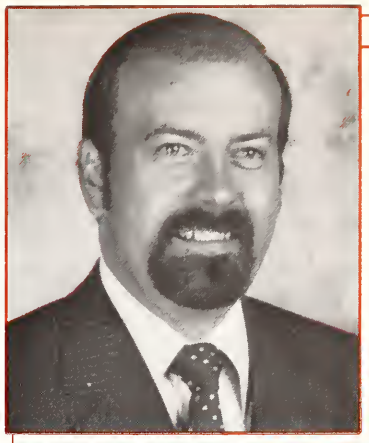
"THE DAILY WALK has helped me have a closer feeling about God on a daily basis. I find that by daily reading I am more inclined to let the influence of the Scripture guide my activities and feelings toward life and other people."

"Enjoying so much reading God's Word on a systematic basis."

"Praise the Lord. THE DAILY WALK has been such a blessing to me. It's just what I've been looking for to help me discipline myself to study the Bible more. I have been studying with more enthusiasm and understanding than ever before. I attend an excellent Bible preaching church and studying with THE DAILY WALK is helping tie in the ends."

"Thanks you so much for making this means of studying God's Word available. I know the Lord is going to use it for His glory in our home and I praise Him for it!"

"Through reading the specified Scriptures and THE DAILY WALK each day I have, with God's help, overcome a terrible personal problem. I get along better with my husband. I feel better about myself, and God has given me much insight and the ability to forgive myself and others. I also have more faith in God."



David Roth a 1969 graduate of FWBC, was elected chairman for the Chicago area alumni. He is presently principal of Wheaton Christian Grammar School in Wheaton, Illinois.

Chicago Area Alumni Picnic

Fantastic weather, an enjoyable time, and a lot of good conversation and fellowship are all expressions used to describe the Chicago area alumni picnic on June 21. The picnic gathering was held at Cantigny Gardens and Museums in Wheaton, Illinois with 22 people present, counting children.

Besides a good time of making reacquaintances and catching up on the latest news, Dr. Warner gave an update on the Bible College and answered questions.

During the alumni picnic there was the election of officers for the upcoming year. David Roth ('69) of Wheaton, Illinois was elected Chairman, Lily Blomstedt (Yakich '71) of Joliet, Illinois was elected Secretary.

Maybe it wasn't the PGA tourney, but these two Fort Wayne pastors couldn't care less after picking up these trophies during the Pastor's Golf Tournament in Fort Wayne sponsored by the FWBC Alumni office. At left, a winner in the fewest putts category (28) is Ed Koch, pastor of the Church of God, and Earl Holkeboer, pastor at Christian Reformed Church for the lowest score (74).

More Than Hard Work Accomplished By Summer Work Crew

"What did you do during your summer vacation?" The inevitable question asked at the start of a school year! For 40 FWBC students the response could range anywhere from becoming a very close friend with a mop, to building a true respect for a freshly painted room, to developing a closer relationship with Jesus Christ. These 40 students made up the FWBC summer work crew.

Under the direction of David Fortriede, Director of Housekeeping and Student Employment, the work crew did a thorough cleaning of the Bible College. Classrooms were completely cleaned, floors refinished, dorm rooms painted and campus grounds well kept, to name only a few accomplished projects.

Along with the work came times of fun, fellowship and relaxation. Attending a Tim LaHaye seminar, having a swimming party, and participating in a work crew picnic helped to make the summer pass quickly. The highlight was when twenty of the workers went on a three day camping trip to Chain-O-Lakes. All money for the trip was raised through carwashes, a bake sale and outside cleaning.

The summer for the work crew was a lot of hard work, but most important, it was a time for Christian growth. David Fortriede comments on the summer, "I personally am pleased with the growth we have seen in many of the workers. As I think back to May 1st, I remember where some of the workers were in their relationship with the Lord and I see how much they have grown. The Lord has done mighty and wonderful things this summer."

The crew finished the summer with a week of tent meetings held on the Bible College campus. All preparations and activities were carried out by the students.

Total Alumni Giving-New Goal Set

At the beginning of the 1979 fiscal year, the alumni of Fort Wayne Bible College set a goal of $75,000 to raise in the college's 75th year. The goal was reached with time to spare and the target was boosted to $100,000. This goal was also reached with time remaining. So once again the goal was reset, this time to $150,000. June 30 was the last day of the 1979 fiscal year and Howard Dunlap, Director of Alumni, announced the total alumni giving as $168,852.38. Three times the goal was set and three times the goal was surpassed! We praise God for the alumni's faithfulness in support in this area!

The Alumni Advisory Board met on August 5 and set $176,000 as the goal for the alumni giving in 1980-81. If you were unable to give last year, please give serious consideration to helping meet the needs of training young people at Fort Wayne Bible College.

Annual Report 1979-1980

A Report To Friends and Constituents of Fort Wayne Bible College

It is with mingled feelings that I present this report to you since it marks the close of 23 years of ministry at the college, the last 9 1/2 as president. I am grateful to the Lord for the opportunity for significant service afforded by being a part of the college community. In this period of unique pressures for colleges, I believe God still has a special mission for Fort Wayne Bible College, and I thank Him for His blessing and provision during the past school year.

This past year we have been challenged by a review of our first 75 years, and now we face the years of the 80's with a renewed commitment to provide for the church and for society a continued supply of graduates who are prepared to meet the demands of this new decade.

Specialized pastoral roles have led to multiple staff churches. Missionary work has expanded to include many specializations. The Christian day school movement is mushrooming with a demand for teachers having good educational credentials plus the ability to integrate Biblical truth into the life and curriculum of the classroom. Para-church organizations have multiplied and are performing functions beyond the resources of most churches creating a demand for Christian workers with new skills.

With this in view, Fort Wayne Bible College recognizes that its role needs to change somewhat in order to keep up with the changing face of the church. Without altering the essential nature of the school as a Bible college and without abandoning existing programs, new curricular offerings are being introduced. Christian social work and business administration majors will prepare graduates for key roles in the church and church-related agencies. Special programs in early childhood education (nursery school and kindergarten), Christian counseling, Christian drama, broadcasting, camping, youth work, and secretarial science will equip students for other strategic ministries.

So, we come to the end of this anniversary year with a forward look in terms of program development. Another significant positive element in looking to the future is the appointment of our new president, Dr. Harvey Bostrom.

The year ended with a balanced budget thanks to a growing group of people who share the vision for Bible college training and to very conservative budgeting by college personnel. A deep debt of gratitude is owed to both groups.

Timothy Warner

The 1980s are suddenly upon us. Responsible elements in our society are doing hard thinking about the days ahead.

Fort Wayne Bible College is gearing up for all that this new period might call for. We have taken a look at our assets and find them to be varied and quite substantial. Our heritage as a school and our alumni give evidence of substance both in program and in product. Our faculty, staff, and student body are seriously concerned and committed to the concept of wholehearted service to our Lord and to our world. Our physical plant generally is in good condition. Enrollment is stable and budgets are under control and spartan. We have a supporting constituency that believes in us, and we have a Board of Governors with a unique combination of vision and just plain old-fashioned good business judgment. And most important, we have a clear sense of God's presence and power.

The 1980s will give us an opportunity to strengthen and adjust our programs so that with our Bible-centered educational philosophy we will be able to address even more effectively the needs of Christian young people, our community, and the church both in this country and abroad. In the process we will be utilizing the student body, the classroom, faculty outreach, our radio station — WBCL, and our Correspondence Studies program. In addition, attention will be given to enhancing the professional development of our faculty and staff; to improving our library holdings and to upgrading certain areas of our physical facilities.

There is a great sense of need all through our society. We have an urgent message from our Lord, and we have a remarkable level of faith and enthusiasm for our task here on campus.

We need a growing number of friends who will pray for us and support us. That can be your part in our great ministry for the 1980s.

Harvey R. Bostrom

Academics

Fort Wayne Bible College completed its 75th academic year with an enrollment of 522 students. A breakdown of the student body enrollment figures showed 280 continuing students, 207 first time students and 35 former students who had returned to campus.

There were ninety-two graduates in May, the second highest number in the history of Fort Wayne Bible College, with seventy-seven students receiving Bachelor degrees and fifteen receiving Associate degrees. Dr. Louis L. King, President of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, delivered the commencement message to the graduates. FWBC awarded Professor of Music, Ira Gerig, with an honorary Doctor of Music degree and Dr. J. A. Ringenberg with an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree; only the third and fourth honorary degrees awarded in the history of the College. During the year, three FWBC faculty members completed work on doctoral degrees. They were Robert Strubhar, Chairman, Department of Pastoral Ministry; Sterling Demond, Chairman, Department of Christian Education; and Ted Nickel, Chairman, Department of Teacher Education.

A significant event of the year occured in April when FWBC staged a 75th Anniversary Tribute. Presented by the Department of Music, the celebration featured a multi-media presentation, interviews with persons prominent in the history of the college, and band music and singing. The event also signaled the publishing of a history of Fort Wayne Bible College, A Vine of God's Own Planting, authored by former FWBC president, Dr. Jared Gerig.

A presidential search committee recommended to the Board of Governors the selection of Dr. Harvey Bostrom, vice president of development at Trinity College, as FWBC's new president. This decision was affirmed by the board and Dr. Bostrom assumed his new duties on August 1.

Dr. Morris Jacobsen resigned as academic dean to return to Japan as a missionary. Dr. Gene Hovee will temporarily assume the position of academic dean.

The first set of students received their Associate of Arts degree in Early Childhood Education during graduation ceremonies in May. Miss Alice Joy Weddle has extended her leave of absence from the Department of Teacher Education to pursue her doctoral program at Ball State University.

Appointed as a new department chairman this past year was Professor Sterling Demond as head of the Christian Education Department.

FWBC Correspondence Studies program continued to progress successfully with 1,863 new enrollments and a net enrollment for the year of 2,156 students. A total of 1,079 students successfully completed a course of study during the year. Donna Lutton was appointed director of the Department of Correspondence Studies in January.

The Lord has given us a good balance of men and women in our student body with our major areas of study being pastoral ministries and Christian education.

Denomination/Geographic Representation

Our student body comes from 22 states and 7 foreign countries, with 59% from Indiana. About 33% of our students come from the Missionary Church. While the Missionary Church is our basic constituency the institution has broad appeal to a wide variety of churches. This presents a unique and balanced learning experience.

Development

On March 1, 1980, Keith Vincent accepted the responsibility as vice president for development. Mr. Vincent comes to us with a sense of God's call. He was a student here in the 1960's and has spent the last fifteen years in business.

Gift Income to Fort Wayne Bible College last year amounted to $419,367 as we added 2,162 new donors to our rolls. During the year a total of 404 members were enrolled in the Harvester Club and Ambassador Corps bringing to 1,000 the number of active members.

Renewed emphasis will also be placed on estate planning and foundation giving. We will be conducting estate planning seminars in area churches, and it is hoped that within the next year we will have the opportunity to plan at least 50 new estates.

The admissions department had an active year, visiting some 32 college fairs, 41 secular high schools and 15 Christian schools. During the year, the department made more than 3,000 phone calls to prospective students and sent out more than 35,000 pieces of mail. An ambitious advertising program on behalf of FWBC was undertaken in a number of Christian magazines resulting in a 45 percent increase in the number of student inquiries over the previous year.

A new ministry was undertaken by the college in January with the sponsorship of "The Daily Walk," a monthly devotional guide published by Daily Walk Ministries, Atlanta, Georgia. More than 2,500 subscribers now receive the devotional which provides a complete overview of the Bible in just one year.

A new director of the public relations department, Robert Jones, was appointed in April replacing Joan Mayers who requested reassignment to a faculty position. A major public relations event, conducted in cooperation with WBCL, was the "Day Away" program in May. An estimated 500 women gathered on campus for all-day meetings and workshops devoted to women's interests. During the year, FWBC was featured in a major article in the ROTO section of The Fort Wayne News-Sentinel upon the observance of the school's 75th anniversary.

The alumni and church relations area of FWBC showed excellent progress during the past year. Total alumni giving reached a new, all-time high and more than 500 alumni attended the alumni banquet in May. There are now 5,821 alumni of the college according to alumni office records. In church relations, 30 mini-team meetings were held in Missionary Churches throughout the Fort Wayne area Dr. and Mrs. Warner, along with FWBC senior, Deb Lehman, ministered through music and testimony.

The Financial Aid picture became a bit cloudy during the past year because of drastic reductions in funds from the State Student Assistance Commission. The effect on FWBC is approximately $94,000. A drive to make up these funds was initiated involving churches, businesses and industry. The Lilly Foundation has offered to supply matching funds of up to $7,200 for monies raised by September 30, 1980 to help with the present financial problem. New scholarships created were a Valedictorian/Salutatorian Scholarship, an Honor Scholarship, a Leadership Scholarship, and a scholarship in honor of Dr. Ira Gerig.

Student Life

Expanding staffs and new assignments marked the year in Student Services. Denny Williams, dean of men, took on additional duties as head soccer coach, and Sharon Mejeur, a resident advisor, will take on additional duties as a teacher in the secretarial science area. Barbara Coon was appointed acting dean of Student Services. Soccer was added as a new intercollegiate sport for FWBC with a schedule of games beginning in September. The intramural program continued to grow during the year with nearly 150 men involved.

In other activity under the supervision of Student Services, a Married Students Fellowship organization was formed to meet the unique needs of married students.

FWBC students continue to be our most effective outreach. This past year was an especially active one in the Christian Service Department as students ministered to 87 churches and organizations representing 24 different denominations. There were three performing groups during the year, plus an additional performing group, Envoy, which was co-sponsored by Student Missionary Fellowship. The groups presented 181 services and traveled more than 14,600 miles during the year.

Financial Summary

The financial status of the college continued to show improvement. Preliminary audit figures show an improvement in fund balances of $123,529 over a year ago. The cash flow problem has improved, but it is still a point of significant pressure. We are thankful to our supporters for helping us to reduce our total indebtedness this past year by a total amount of $93,605.
